

Walks Around Burton Bradstock

Short Clifftop Circular

- Alight the bus in the village centre, at the Anchor Inn from the Bridport direction or at the Three Horseshoes pub from the Weymouth direction. Start the walk from the Anchor Inn.
- Take the road south towards the coast. It would be advisable to take a short detour from the Anchor Inn right via Church Street and Donkey Lane to avoid walking along the narrow, busy part of the main road here.
- Go along the pavement until the left hand bend in the main road, and then take the minor road (Cliff Road), straight ahead up the hill, to arrive at the South West Coast Path near the cliff top.
- Turn right along the South West Coast Path which runs along the cliff top. Continue for 1 km and then go steeply down to the river mouth.
- Turn right through a gate and walk along the river path, keeping the River Bride on your left, back to the village. At the main road, turn left to return to the start.

Golden cliffs of sandstone and limestone that tell us a tropical sea existed here 170 million years ago. The fossil riches of these rocks, painstakingly collected and cleaned, are displayed at Bridport Museum.
