

This decorative border on the right side of the map features a variety of elements. At the top, there is a scene with cows in a field. Below that is a large, classical-style statue of a woman. Further down, a bicycle is shown in a garden setting. The border is adorned with numerous flowers, including yellow and white blooms, and a small building with a tower. The overall theme is rural and scenic, complementing the map's focus on Dorset's landscape.
